Dear Federal Trade Commission Member,

I am writing to you regarding your proposed regulations for those of us in the direct selling business. I am a PartyLite Leader and have been working in this business for 2 years. In that time, I have been able to build an income that allows me to pay for my credit card bills and vacations. In addition, I have brought many people into this business, whom have also been able to use this opportunity to support themselves and their families.

The regulations you are planning would make it incredibly difficult to introduce anyone to this opportunity. One of the best things about this business is that anyone can start this business and be earning money within a timeframe of two weeks. Most people join PartyLite wanting and often needing to earn money right away, and your proposal would make them wait even longer. In addition, I cannot see myself sharing private information about other PartyLite Consultants and I certainly not want my private information shared without my consent.

I feel good about sharing PartyLite's very real business opportunity with others, and want to continue to easily introduce PartyLite to more people who could benefit as I have. The regulations you are proposing would hinder me from doing so – and would hinder others in starting their business in the timeframe they choose.

Please reconsider your proposals to regulate legitimate, professional direct sellers like me. You will only end up impacting my income and my future.

Respectfully Yours,

Karrie Klimas
Unit Leader
PartyLite Gifts, Inc.
